It's 10:00am on 3/27/2020 and normally our first draw for The Barrel Bonspiel would be halfway through. But alas, that wasn't meant to be.

Thanks to the great idea from WCCC's Billy Wicks, we'll be running a simulated draw all weekend long on our webpage and social media. Tony, our drawmaster, will be handling the scores using the highly advanced algorithm of a 5-year-old rolling the dice.

The first draw is in the books so go ahead and take a look. Then keep checking back throughout the weekend to see if your team makes it to the Barrel championship on Sunday!

Follow along our social media all weekend to . We've got some stuff planned that's sure to break the monotony of quarantine.

Can I just say how embarrassingly long it took me to figure out the correct spelling of the word monotony?
